27. Hi all

I am a final year business student.

I am currently working on My FYP and have run into difficulty in a particular section.

The project is to develop a conceptual framework for the development of an e-Supply Chain Management (e-SCM) System for small-to-medium enterprises (SMEs).

The goal is not to develop the product, rather to envision:

-What the product should look like.

-What features and functionalities it should have.

-What tools could be used to develop the modules of the software system.

-What are the commercialisation pathways for such a tool

I am having issues with a particular section where I must devise a software development plan. I have no background in software development or programming so i am struggling to understand the requirements. I was wondering if it might be possible to meet with a member of your team to talk about the information and requirements for such a task. thank you for your time. (3 Marks)

28. Hi i was hoping to sign up for redbrick i know i missed clubs and socs but was hoping i still could. (2 marks)
